

Dear Community Partner,

We are very excited to announce that on June 22-25th 2015 Anchorage will host the international conference "Emergence in Chemical Systems 4.0". The conference attracts world-renown scientists and engineers who are experts in the fields of complex systems and who study emergent processes in nature. The questions of how nature assembles itself into hierarchical structures of increasing complexity, and what the implications are for new technologies/engineering, is of interest to many different disciplines including chemistry, physics, geology, astro-physics, material science, engineering, and philosophy.

We would like to invite you to attend the conference or join the conference as a community sponsor.

Being a conference's community sponsor is a great way of increasing your competitive edge by raising your company's image, prestige, and credibility. Supporting local scientific and engineering events also attracts Alaskans and companies in your target market.

Event sponsorship is an especially effective marketing tool because it will reach a local, domestic and international audience. Your company's name will reach businesses, government decision makers, and potential customers.

In addition to advertising your company to the local community, you will also have a chance to network and recruit national and international talent. The conference organizers will acknowledge you as a conference partner by including your company name on a poster displayed during the conference's presentations and the poster session.

We provide several community partnership levels for branding and highlighting your company to achieve the best publicity. Please see the community sponsorship details page, find out more about the conference on the conference website, or contact one of the conference organizers directly if you have additional questions. Your donations are tax deductible.

On behalf of the conference committee, thank you for your time and interest.
